

Case Study – Mechanical & Electrical Engineering

Appointment: CEO

Client:

One of the UK's leading independent M & E providers offering design, project management, facilities services and maintenance.

Challenge:

We were contacted by our client who we have worked alongside for many years, to source a new CEO. The client is a well respected traditional engineering business of substantial scale but lacks a current market visibility and sales growth. New leadership was needed to help change the culture of the company and create a new brand identity focused on talent, innovation and excellence.

Our Solution:

We utilised sector knowledge and networking resource to attract top talent whilst not compromising on confidentiality. Within a 6 month period, we successfully appointed a highly driven CEO who has brought new ideas and opportunities for expansion to the business to fuel the company growth ambition and increase their market presence.
